K (What I Know)	W (What I want to Know)	L (What I Learned)
Variables store data values

A data type defines the variable

Constants are variables that don't change | What data types are there?

What are the differences between the data types? | Int – stores whole numbers

String – stores text

Double – stores floating point numbers

Char – stores single characters |